Despite UN plea, SC upholds death for 4

By Marlene

THE SUPREME COURT today upheld the death sentences of four men convicted of the 1994 Zamboanga City massacre, despite a plea from the United Nations for a retrial.

The court said that the evidence against the four men was sufficient to support the death sentences. It said that the evidence was credible and that the trial was fair.

The four men were convicted of the massacre, in which 44 people were killed and 111 were injured. The men were charged with murder, rape, and kidnapping.

The United Nations had asked the court to grant a retrial for the four men. It said that the trial was unfair and that the evidence was not credible.

The court said that it had conducted a thorough review of the trial and found that the evidence was credible and that the trial was fair. It said that the evidence was sufficient to support the death sentences.

The court said that it was not bound by the plea from the United Nations. It said that it was bound by the evidence and the law.

1995). It is therefore likely that the observed pattern of results is due to the fact that the two groups of children were not matched on the basis of their chronological age.

The paper, describing high- β tokamak experiments, states that the results of the experiments indicate that the tokamak is a promising concept for fusion power.

"It is possible that the use of a general-purpose tokamak as the primary fusion reactor," the authors conclude, "will allow the design of a fusion reactor that is both compact and efficient."

The authors also noted that the tokamak is a promising concept for fusion power, and that the tokamak is a promising concept for fusion power.

Miriam bolts FPJ camp

MANILA, Philippines — Miriam Defensor-Santiago, wife of President Ferdinand Marcos Jr., has left the official presidential camp and is now living in a private residence in the city.

The 61-year-old former senator and human rights lawyer is believed to have left the presidential camp in the early hours of the morning.

Defensor-Santiago is the daughter of the late Senator Benigno Aquino Sr., who was assassinated in 1980.

She has been a vocal critic of the Marcos family and has been involved in several legal battles with them.

Defensor-Santiago is currently living in a private residence in the city, where she is believed to be working on her memoirs.

Her departure from the presidential camp has been seen as a significant move, given her long history of criticism of the Marcos family.

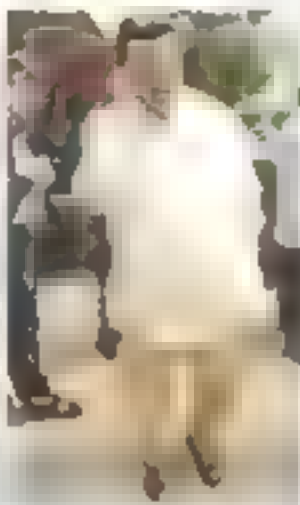

Defensor-Santiago is a well-known figure in Philippine politics and has been a member of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

She is also a prominent human rights lawyer and has been involved in several high-profile cases.

Defensor-Santiago is believed to be working on her memoirs, which are expected to provide a detailed account of her life and career.

Her departure from the presidential camp has been widely reported in the media and has sparked speculation about her future plans.

Defensor-Santiago is a respected figure in Philippine society and her move is seen as a significant event in the country's political landscape.

Da King' is no car fancier

MANILA, Philippines — President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. is not a car enthusiast, despite his status as the head of state. He is known for his simple lifestyle and has been seen driving a modest car.

The president is believed to have a collection of cars, but he rarely drives them. He is often seen in a jeepney, a traditional mode of public transport in the Philippines.

His preference for the jeepney has been widely reported and has earned him the nickname 'Jeepney King'.

The president's choice of transport is seen as a reflection of his commitment to the Filipino people and his desire to stay grounded.

He is also known for his love of sports and has been seen playing basketball and tennis.

The president's simple lifestyle and his preference for the jeepney have been widely praised by the Filipino people.

His choice of transport is seen as a symbol of his connection to the Filipino people and his commitment to their welfare.

The president's love of sports and his preference for the jeepney are just two of the many ways in which he has shown his commitment to the Filipino people.

Looking back

In a year beset by the heat of a deadly epidemic, in a year when terrible things happened on the countless TV and hitbox betrayed their worst of nature, in a year when a boy band caused mayhem in and more than his personal life began making insurance about running for public office, what events affected you? Politics, whether personally or safely?

1990 to '96, I have lived with chronic asthma, and a severe form of back & neck pain. I have tried a lot of physical therapy and acupuncture. In the past year, I have been diagnosed with depression and anxiety. I am now on antidepressants and anxiety medication.
